

Employer Recommendation for Juvy Rosuelo

I'm happy to recommend Juvy Rosuelo as an excellent domestic helper who will be an asset to anyone who welcomes her into their family. Juvy has been working for our family since December 2022. She is a thorough cleaner, keeping the house clean and tidy without the need for oversight. She is wonderful with our youngest son, taking him everywhere he needs to go and being proactive in arranging play dates and outings. She is incredibly patient with our older son who has special needs and often has challenging and disrespectful behavior. We haven't asked Juvy to cook very much as I really enjoy cooking, but the western recipes I have taught her she learned quickly and easily. She is good at marketing, carefully looking for the specific, sometimes hard to find, items I have sent her out for.

We have found Juvy to be honest and trustworthy. Her English is good and although she is very shy, especially at first, she communicates well. She is also very patient with my impulsive nature and easily adjusts when I change the plans at the last minute.

I think it's important to address that during Covid, while she was employed by her first employer, she went to a friend's birthday at a venue that wasn't properly licensed, and everyone there was arrested and fined. I truly believe that she just didn't know that they were not licensed, and I haven't seen anything in her character or actions that would make me concerned about her respect for rules or authority. This did slightly impact her visa processing, as the processing officer contacted us to make sure she had told us, and we had to submit a letter saying that we were aware of the incident and still wanted to hire her, and her visa was processed without delay. If we had known it was needed, we would have submitted the letter along with the visa application. I'm glad that we chose to trust her previous employer's recommendation despite this one mistake, and hope that you will as well.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions, we hope that Juvy is able to find a kind family that will treat her well as we depart Hong Kong for our next adventure!
